Your Job: Reflections on the Days of Awe

As I write these words, Temple B'nai Tikvah is abuzz with preparations for the upcoming Days of Awe. Katie Baker and I have worked out our music cues; Roz Mendelson is ardently assigning honours for the services; our hardworking staff is readying the building, printing the tickets, arranging for childcare, and doing all of the other myriad tasks involved in preparing our congregation for Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. As always, these Days of Wonder and Awe promise to present us all with some wonderful opportunities for reflection, recalibration, and repentance.

From within this whirl of activity, however, I'd like to remind you that the essential work of the Days of Awe won't begin until you walk through the doors. That's because the essential work of these observances is yours to do, and yours alone. Done right, these holidays are days of honest self-assessment, heartfelt healing, and genuine turning. All of the other accoutrements of our observances – the music, the sermons, the beautiful building and all the rest – only matter to the extent that they enable you to engage in those holy tasks.

The music will certainly help create an atmosphere of awe. My sermons – I hope – will be engaging and inspirational. The readings in the prayerbook may touch you. But those are ancillary elements of the Days of Awe experience. Far more central is the experience that each of us can have of standing before God's awesome presence, remembering the crucial significance of a life well lived, and charting the days ahead accordingly. And while the leadership of Temple can help create an atmosphere conducive to those experiences, the ultimate decision as to whether you will have them is yours, and yours alone.

That means that you've got a big job ahead of you. It's the job of turning your life around; it's the job of renewal; it's the job of achieving awe. Done right, those jobs are all really difficult. They demand of you a willingness to be vulnerable, a readiness to reach out, and an inclination to abandon your old ways in favor of newer and better ones.

So, when you come to Temple for the Days of Awe, I hope you'll come in eager anticipation of a transformative experience, but, even more important, I hope you'll come ready to work. It's only when we all work on the jobs assigned to us on these Awesome Days that we can most fully make use of the amazing opportunities they afford us.

TEMPLE CASINO — DECEMBER 23 AND 24, 2019

We have recently been assigned Monday and Tuesday, December 23 and 24 as the dates for our next casino. This is a very important fundraiser for the Temple. We expect to realize a profit of approximately $70K for the two-day event.

These dates coincide with the second and third candles of Chanukah. Rabbi Glickman has given the ‘thumbs-up’ for us to accept this time slot for two reasons. First, because Chanukah is a minor holiday on the Jewish calendar, our members aren’t prohibited from being involved in extracurricular activities. In fact, the rabbi thinks we should dub the casino event “The Festival of Flashing Lights!” Second, it allows our neighbours who celebrate Christmas some time off during their important holiday season.

There is another huge advantage to accepting these specific dates. The casino hours will be drastically shortened on December 24th; there is no evening shift that day, and the count room volunteers are only required to work a shift of about two hours (4:30 pm - 6:30 pm). Despite the shorter number of volunteers / volunteer hours required, the Temple will still receive an even share of the ‘pool’ when funds are calculated at the end of the fiscal quarter.

We are looking for a total of thirty volunteers to staff the casino, as well as some spare volunteers who would be willing to cover a shift at the last minute. No prior experience is required — our awesome advisors are happy to train new volunteers. This year, we’re asking you to sign up via Signup Genius at: <https://www.signupgenius.com/go/70a0b48aae2aa3ff2-casino>. Once you have signed up for a shift, a volunteer worker form will be emailed to you. Shifts / volunteer positions will be confirmed when the forms are received.

If you have questions, contact Jane Paterson at 403-803-1132 / momified@shaw.ca or Jeff Booke at 403-355-1231 / jbooke@repsolsport.com.

JUDAICA BOOKS FOR SALE

With thanks and appreciation to everyone who has so far supported the Judaica Book Cart project. It is proving successful in promoting Jewish literacy and raising some funds for Religious School. If you would like to donate Judaica books, kindly drop them at the Temple office where they will first be considered for the Temple library, and then any duplicates will be placed on the book cart.

A simple pricing system of $2.00 for adult books and $1.00 for children’s books, cash only, makes Judaic literacy accessible for all.

For further info or for any suggestions on this new initiative, please contact Michele Doctoroff at switzert@telus.net.

LIFE & LEGACY: The Temple Legacy Circle (TLC)

In June, we announced the first 10 members of the TLC. We are honoured that families have continued to join. We now have 18 families who have made an after-life gift to the newly established Temple B'nai Tikvah LIFE & LEGACY endowment fund, held at the Jewish Community Foundation of Calgary. Together, we will ensure the financial future of our congregation. Kol Hakavod to them all!

All 18 families have signed Letters of Intent indicating that sometime in the next 12 months they will formalize their after-life gift.

We can all contribute. And it requires none of our current resources! Won't you join us in growing our TLC?

Please contact Bonnie Kaplan at bonniejoykaplan@gmail.com, or 403-245-0568 or any of the other members of Temple's LIFE & LEGACY team: Ron Bing, Gertrude Cohos, Mark Paidra, and Cheryl Shore.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

CYNTHIA SIMMONS

Baruch atah adonai eloheinu melech ha'olam shekahcha lo baolamo.
Blessed are you, God of the Universe, who has placed such (beautiful things) in this world.

As many of you know my husband, Arthur, turned 80 this year and his gift was a whale watching trip leaving out of Prince Rupert, B.C. We drove to Prince Rupert by heading west from Jasper and returned to Calgary through central B.C. with a stay over in Kamloops. We saw so much beauty on the trip – mountains, lakes, brown hills covered with tussock grass. Animals everywhere – bear, moose, whales, sea anemone in tidal pools. Wondrous.

And now it is September and with September comes the Days of Awe followed by (this year's very special) Simchat Torah where we go again to the beginning of our cycle of Torah reading and learning. With each passing week we read and study the designated parshah systematically moving through the whole five books until the next year when we start again. We do this over and over as the years of our life pass.

Now why is it that am I writing about both my wonder and joy of experiencing nature, together with the cycle of Torah study? The answer is that I attended services the day after I returned from our trip and I came to see that our approach to learning Torah provides a perfect model for learning about the natural world around us – perhaps for all learning.

When we first encounter a story in Torah – be it creation, the flood, or even the actions of Pinchas – we may think “interesting”, or “OK” and go on. Then the next year there is the story again, and the following year again, repeating through the decades. One could consider this approach to not only be repetitive but dull – the same portion over and over. But if done the right way – and I think we do that at B'nai Tikvah – each telling of the story leads us to learn a little more. We analyze the passage, we listen to the rabbi's (or other leader's) insights, we debate, we grapple. With each retelling we become more adept at moving from the broader story to having insight into how the pieces of the narrative come together. We understand how both the whole and the interplay of the parts can touch our lives. Like experiencing nature, our eyes first see a forest but then with each look we begin to see cedars, fir, spruce, and pine. When the viewing is followed by study we come slowly to understand the why of where each tree grows and how they interact together. With seeing and with understanding the wonder increases. The same can be said of Torah.

Membership renewal requests have been sent out and my hope is that you do renew and that you contribute to fair share if possible. We need your financial support to continue to exist. As importantly, I hope you decide to attend regularly. Enjoy the community, experience the service, discuss, learn. We need your individual questions, insights, and passions to maintain this important (and beautiful) Jewish entity called B'nai Tikvah.

SHOFAR SHO GOOD
SATURDAY, SEPT. 21
AT 7:00 PM

This Selichot, it is time to blow your own horn (or use one of the loaners provided). Whether you are trying it out for the first time, or brushing up on your shofar skills, all are welcome to attend a short shofar workshop before the Selichot service.

SHABBAT SCHOOL 2019

SARA HASTINGS-SIMON, PARENT COORDINATOR

My name is Sara Hastings-Simon and I am the new Parent Coordinator for Shabbat School. I have two boys in grade three and have been a member of Temple B'nai Tikvah since we moved to Calgary 10 years ago. I am excited to take on this new role and looking forward to working with many of you to continue the tradition of celebrating holidays with the children in Shabbat School along with families and Temple members.

I will be at Shabbat School on the first day of school, September 14, with sign up-sheets looking for parent volunteers to help with our events for Chanukah, Tu B'Shvat, Purim, Passover and the end of year BBQ. These events can only happen with your help so please sign up, we need volunteers for each holiday to do prep, room setup and clean up.

I look forward to seeing you all on September 14.

MITZVAH 613

TRACEY RUMIG

304,803...304,804...304,805...and done!

There are 304,805 letters in a Torah and ours is now complete! We began writing our Torah in April beginning with Bereshit and finished in June with Devarim. Molly Ross received the honour of writing the final letter, a lamed.

Todah Rabah to everyone who participated in this mitzvah by writing a letter, volunteering and/or making a dedication. We could never have completed this Torah without your involvement. You are an indelible part of this important legacy that we have created for ourselves and for all future generations.

Please go to our Mitzvah 613 website to see the amazing photos of everyone who participated which can be found at mitzvah613calgary.com

If you were unable to participate during our four days of letter-writing, there is still time to be a part of this incredible legacy. You can dedicate a letter, verse, parashah or book of this Torah to honour a person or event, or send a card and direct the funds to our newly created Torah fund. You can do this until Simchat Torah when we will dedicate and present the Torah to the congregation.

Please contact Rabbi Glickman, Roz Mendelson at rmendelson@shaw.ca or Tracey Rumig at trumig@me.com to discuss.

SOCIAL ACTION PROJECTS

WOULD YOU LIKE TO HELP KIDS IN OUR CITY?

BROWN BAGGING FOR CALGARY KIDS

Temple is pleased to continue our participation in the Brown Bagging for Calgary Kids (BB4CK) Lunch Program. This is a joint venture between Temple and Brown Bagging Calgary to provide healthy lunches for elementary and junior high students who are in need of this. We shop for supplies, make lunches in our kitchen and deliver them to the schools.

As a volunteer, your commitment would be 2 hours once a week or once a month or whatever works for you.

If you are interested in helping or would like further information, please contact one of our program co-ordinators, Mona Bell at monabell@shaw.ca or Cathy Tait at randctait@shaw.ca.

NEWS FROM THE CALGARY ALLIANCE FOR THE COMMON GOOD

INVITATION TO THE FOUNDING ASSEMBLY: SAVE THE DATE!

We are looking forward to our Founding Assembly, which will be the public launch of the Calgary Alliance for the Common Good (CACG). All members of Temple B'nai Tikvah are invited to this celebration and launch. This is a great opportunity to learn about the organization, which is a cornerstone of our work toward social justice and tikkun olam. If you come, you will meet members from 27 congregations and community groups that comprise the CACG. Together, we represent more than 30,000 people and work to make Calgary a just and compassionate city. You will also have the opportunity to hear about the campaigns the Alliance will be working on in the coming years. We hope to have a large contingent representing our Temple. If you have any questions, please contact Ayala Roudstein at aroudstein@gmail.com.

Recent Achievements of the Calgary Alliance for the Common Good

This summer, the CACG launched the #KeepCalgaryStrong campaign in order to preserve essential services for the most vulnerable Calgarians in the face of the City's budget cuts. Members sent letters, posted on social media, signed a petition and over 300 people showed up in at the City Council meetings. This effort achieved our three main objectives:

- The seniors program for which we had previously won support will continue
- City funding for the low-income bus pass has been preserved
- The City's Mental Health and Addictions Strategy was passed unanimously

ADULT EDUCATION UPDATE

JENNIFER EISERMAN AND REBECCA KREL, COMMITTEE CHAIRS

We would like to welcome everyone back to Temple B'nai Tikvah as you return from your summer pursuits. We promise a full program of adult education programming to tempt you out of your warm homes as the days shorten and become cooler.

Torah and Java continues, on Saturdays from 9:45 am to 10:30 am in the Chapel. Come join us for a lively discussion about the weekly parsha, accompanied by coffee/tea and a snack.

We are pleased to be able to host a new Jewish artists' collective at Temple B'nai Tikvah. While the group is yet unnamed, it is actively engaged in the community, as was its predecessor, Betzalel Arts. The collective's works will be exhibited at B'nai Tikvah from September 23 to October 23, 2019, centering on the theme of Reconciliation.

Watch the e-blast announcements for Chant Services this fall, led by Betsy Jameson, during what is our regular Torah and Java time at 9:45 am for an hour and a half of meditative chanting that focuses on themes that arise from the week's parashah. Singing ability is not necessary.

Lunch and Learn and Dessert and Learn programming is being finalized. Start looking for these noon hour and early evening talks after the Days of Awe in October.

Introduction to Judaism will run on scheduled Tuesdays, starting September 10. Online registration is open until September 1, 2019. Other adult education led by Rabbi Glickman will commence following the Days of Awe. Please keep an eye on the e-blasts for details!

A GOOD CHEW

TRACEY RUMIG

Well, summer might be officially over this month, but hopefully we will feel the warmth of the sun a little bit longer and maybe be able to have just one more brunch out in the backyard. On that note, Molly Ross sent me her recipe for her famous Cottage Cheese Muffins. She thinks this recipe might have originated in Winnipeg but now everyone from her kids, granddaughters and all of her friends make them (hopefully that means she considers me one of her friends!)

Molly says that it is easy to mix them by hand, no mixer required, and that they freeze well. They're great for brunch served with yogurt or sour cream and berries or even for a quick snack. If you use parchment paper muffin cups, it will save you a lot of time cleaning your muffin pan.

I tested these muffins out myself, like any good recipe columnist, and they are fantastic, moist and comforting — as well as a big hit with brunch guests!

MOLLY'S COTTAGE CHEESE MUFFINS

500 grams of 1% cottage cheese
3 tbsp. of sugar
2 eggs
1/2 cup of hard margarine or melted butter
1 cup flour
2 tsp. baking powder

Mix in order listed and bake in muffin cups. If batter seems too thick you can add 1 or 2 tbsp. of milk. Use Pam and grease muffin cups well. Bake at 400°F for 25 - 30 minutes until brown.

I hope you have a chance to enjoy them on your patio! Thanks Molly!

If you have any recipes you would like to share with our congregation, I would love to try them out! Please send them to me at trumig@me.com

WOW!

20x20 Talks

EMCEE: NORM YANOFSKY | 1:30 – 3:00 PM

We invited a fascinating and diverse group of Temple members to speak to us.

Each speaker has submitted 20 slides which will show for 20 seconds each, allowing the speaker exactly six minutes and forty seconds to address the topic “Wow!” from his or her own unique perspective.

Speakers: Barry Finkelman, Caron Glickman, Paul Gronnerud, David Hodgins, Lou Kolman, Jessy Kuehne, Ben Palter, Ella Palter, Eric Rosenbaum, and Deborah Sword

CHANT MEDITATION SERVICE LED BY BETSY JAMESON | 1:30 – 3:00 PM

A gentle service that uses Hebrew chant and guided meditation to enhance the experience of teshuvah. Like the call of the shofar and Kol Nidre, melodies and the silences between them help guide and deepen our inward turning. No previous experience with meditation or chant is necessary.

“When we chant we are using the whole body as the instrument with which to feel the meaning of the sacred phrase.” – Rabbi Shefa Gold

PATHS OF PEACE: A Contemplative Yom Kippur Walk LED BY ALLYSON BILLINGS 3:00 – 4:00 PM

This will be a walk with fellow congregants along the paths across the park from Temple, featuring opportunities to stop and reflect upon some important Days of Awe themes. Meet at the front doors for what truly promises to be a breath of fresh air as we do our sacred work of turning and renewal on Yom Kippur afternoon.

If you would like, please feel free to bring a favorite poem or reading to share with the others on the walk.

THE “CONFESSIONS FOR OUR TIME” SERVICE WILL BEGIN AT 4:00 P.M.
