Why Chanukah Never Comes Late

By Rabbi Mark Glickman

"Chanukah," people tell me, "falls late this year. It doesn't begin until Christmas Eve!"

The statement is a mistake, of course. Chanukah doesn't fall late this year. In fact, this year, Chanukah starts on the same day it starts every year – on the 25th of Kislev. And while it's untrue that Chanukah comes late this year, what is true is that Christmas comes early this year. Usually, Christmas comes only at the very end of the month of Kislev, or even at the beginning of Tevet. This year, however, Christmas comes earlier – it begins on the 25th of Kislev.

One of the central challenges of modern Jewish life is to live in Jewish time. It's a challenge, of course. When the world around us counts the months, "January, February, March..." we Jews are to count them "Tishrei, Cheshvan, Kislev..." When the world around us counts off the holidays, "Thanksgiving, Remembrance Day, Christmas..." we Jews are to count off "Rosh Hashanah, Yom Kippur, Sukkot, Chanukah..." While living in a world that uses the Gregorian calendar, we need to also figure out how to live by our Jewish calendar while still remaining part of the world around us.

Indeed, cultures are defined perhaps more than anything else by the calendars that give shape to their experience of time. It is our calendars that give us weekends and weekdays; it is our calendars that give us festivals and holidays; it is our calendars that give us birthdays and anniversaries. Without a common calendar, we wouldn't be able to share work, rest, or celebrations in the way we have become accustomed to. Without a shared calendar, culture as we know it wouldn't exist.

Of course, we live in Canada, which means that our workaday lives are governed by the January, February, March rhythm of the Gregorian year. But as Jews, we must never forget that we have our own calendar which, taken seriously, would give our year a very different rhythm. Indeed, living by the Tishrei, Cheshvan, Kislev tempo of the Jewish year is what holds our people together wherever we may live.

So this year, don't bemoan the tardiness of Chanukah. Instead, be happy for your Christmas-celebrating friends that their holiday comes so early. Being happy about this year's timing of Christmas, you see, is one of the most Jewish things we can do.

Shalom,

Rabbi Mark Glickman

We've had an amazing month, highlighted by the installation of Rabbi Mark Glickman as our fourth settled rabbi. We heard inspiring and challenging lessons from Moshe Yedlin Scholar-in-Residence Rabbi Gary Zola at the installation and the next day at Torah study and in his teaching from ethical wills of Canadian and U.S. Jews. At the installation, Rabbi Glickman's drash about his grandfather, Sylvester Marx, movingly evoked the importance of maintaining Jewish life l'dor v'dor.

We were honoured to welcome the Honourable Kent Herr, Minister of Veterans Affairs and distinguished representatives of the Beth Tzedec Congregation, the Kehilat Shalom Society, the Calgary Jewish Federation, the United Jewish Appeal, the Chevra Kadisha, the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews, the Calgary Interfaith Council, the Christian Life Centre, and the RCMP. It was a particular joy to welcome Rabbi Glickman's family, and we look forward to return visits from all our guests.

President's Message

Betsy Jameson

Thanks to everyone who organized the installation: Katie Baker, Nadine Drexler, Deborah Yedlin, Natashia Halikowski, Ken Drabinsky, Josh Hesslein, Andy Kubrin, Sheila Hart, Danny Oppenheim, and Ken Sullivan. Heartfelt thanks to Roz Mendelson for her leadership and to Deborah Yedlin and Martin Molyneaux for their support of the Moshe Yedlin Scholar-in-Residence, and their generous support of the Kiddush lunch.

Our transition as congregation and rabbi continues with opportunities to meet Rabbi Glickman up close and personal at small gatherings in members' homes. Please consult the announcement of upcoming gatherings in Kol Tikvah and the weekly email blasts, and please contact Nadine Drexler if you would like to host a gathering in your home.

The installation capped an extraordinary month. We initiated our new Lunch and Learn series with an inspiring talk by Dr. Gayla Rogers. On November 5, Mayor Naheed Nenshi surprised our Shabbat School students, responding to letters last spring from students in grades 1 and 2, who wrote the mayor about their hopes for tikkun olam. The mayor visited them to discuss tikkun olam, and to encourage us all to celebrate Canada's centennial by performing three acts of kindness for Canada.

Finally, we enjoyed Noa's uplifting concert November 10, with master guitarist Gil Dor. If you missed it, access Ted Switzer's video on our website and Facebook page of Noa's moving rendition of Leonard Cohen's "Hallelujah," just after learning of Cohen's death. Many thanks to Mr. David Lyons, the S. Daniel Abraham Center for Middle East Peace and the Israeli Ministry of Foreign Affairs who made the concert possible, to Michelle Doctoroff for incomparable hospitality, and to Steve Eichler, who makes it all happen.

The fun continues. Please join us for Lunch and Learn December 13, when Dr. Adrienne Kertzer will speak on "Cinderella's Stepsisters, Traumatic Memory, and Young People's Writing"; for the congregation's Chanukah celebration December 30; and for Sara's Voice January 15. See Temple email blasts for details.

On a less happy note, recent weeks were marked by distressing acts of hatred and anti-Semitism in the U.S. and Canada following the U.S. election. In Israel, on November 24, Reform synagogue Kehillat Ra'anana was defaced with graffiti and a knife on its door, and death threats were issued against Anat Hoffman (Executive Director of the Israel Jewish Action Center), Rabbi Rick Jacobs (President of the Union for Reform Judaism), and Rabbi Gilad Kariv (President of the Israel Movement for Progressive Judaism). In the days ahead, may our community find the strength to resist hatred and fear, and continue to advance the values of inclusion that we carry forward as B'nai Tikvah, Children of Hope.

Temple Celebrates Rabbi Glickman's Installation

On November 18, 2016, Temple B'nai Tikvah officially (and joyously) appointed its fourth settled rabbi, Mark Glickman. We also welcomed Dr. Gary Zola, Moshe Yedlin Scholar-in-Residence, who delivered a lecture the following day entitled "Golden Threads: Linking the Generations, Jews and Their Ethical Wills."

See the following pages for pictures of an event we will always cherish. (Photos courtesy of Andrea Katz.)

Paul Finkleman Receives 2016 Stars of Alberta Volunteer Award

Temple member Paul Finkleman is one of six Albertans honoured to be a recipient of the 2016 Stars of Alberta Volunteer Award for outstanding service to the community. His selfless efforts in activities such as helping the city's underprivileged through feeding the homeless at the Calgary Drop-In Centre, his years of dedication to environmental stewardship as President of the Weaselhead Preservation Society and his other volunteer works have been recognized by the Alberta Government.

This year's presentation will take place at Government House in Edmonton on December 5.

Mayor Nenshi Visits Shabbat School

It's not every day that the mayor answers your letter in person, but that's just what happened in Shabbat school on Saturday November 5, 2016. The grade 1-2 kids had written to Mayor Nenshi about tikkun olam last year, and instead of licking a stamp, the mayor decided to drop by for a chat instead.

Mayor Nenshi discussed the kids' tikkun olam project with them. He also presented the "3 things for Canada" initiative, which fits in perfectly with tikkun olam. We each need to perform three acts to better Canada, the mayor said, which will total just under 100 million acts of service to the community.

Judging by the photo, it looks like the mayor drew a pretty good crowd.

As December 10 is the last day of Shabbat School before the winter break, the Shabbat School will celebrate Chanukah early. At 11:00 on December 10, the children will join their parents in the Betty Switzer social hall for latkes, dreidels and a sing along.

Volunteers Gift Shabbat Baskets to New Members

On the eve of the first November snowfall, a group of wonderful volunteers met at the Finkleman home to create and deliver beautiful Shabbat baskets for all our new Temple B'nai Tikvah members. This year's creative team included Shauna Switzer, Patti Winston, Robyn Winograd, and Marlene & Norm Yanofsky. Delivering to all four corners of the city were Helen Faber, Elaine Harris, Elaine Hashman, Ilana Krygier Lapidés, Norm and Kathy Schachar, Maggie Serpa-Francoeur, Tina & Isabel Stanleigh, and Patti Winston. Working out the routes, keeping everything organized and running smoothly was Paul Finkleman.

Many thanks go out to all the volunteers! A big round of thanks also goes out to our anonymous family who donates the lovely travel prayer books that we are able to add to the baskets each year! We constantly hear stories from those delivering baskets that this is their favourite project to work on each year, as the recipients are always so pleased to meet them and receive such a lovely gift from our Membership Committee just in time for Shabbat.

If you are interested in helping out with this project next year, please contact Deb Finkleman (dfinkleman@shaw.ca).

Rabbi Glickman Launches Stolen Words at Jewish Book Festival

Stolen Words is an epic story about the largest collection of Jewish books in the world—tens of millions of books that the Nazis looted from European Jewish families and institutions. Nazi soldiers and civilians emptied Jewish communal libraries, confiscated volumes from government collections, and stole from Jewish individuals, schools, and synagogues. Early in their regime the Nazis burned some books in spectacular bonfires, but most they saved, stashing the literary loot in castles, abandoned mine shafts, and warehouses throughout Europe. It was the largest and most extensive book-looting campaign in history.

The Canadian launch will take place Wednesday December 7 at 6:30 - 8:00pm at the JCC.

Stand Up and Be Counted (if you can afford $1.50/month or more)

We are in the final month of this year's annual campaign for the Calgary Jewish Federation's United Jewish Appeal (UJA).

There are many reasons that every single member of Temple needs to join the Jewish Federation by making at least a token donation of chai ($18) to UJA each year. For instance, we all rely on the following, so we should all contribute:

- The JCC itself (our community's living room!).
- The Jewish Federation provides the liaison with the police to ensure we have community-wide security at all Jewish institutions every day of the year but particularly for occasions like High Holy Days.
- Every time there is an event that results in government or the media wanting to consult with the Jewish Community, it is the Federation that represents us.
- When there is a hate crime, when there are threats to community security, when someone experiences anti-Semitism in the workplace or at school, the Jewish Federation is there to help us all.
- PJ Library (check out the bookshelves at Temple).
- Israel and Jewish advocacy.
- Seniors' programming through the JCC and Jewish Family Service Calgary.
- Holocaust and Human Rights Education and Commemoration.
- Etc. etc.

Let's do the math together:

- How many Jews live in Calgary? Estimates are about 8,500.
- How many Jews donate to the UJA campaign? 1,639 in 2015.

Therefore, I ask everyone who can afford $1.50 per month to make a token donation in order to 'stand up and be counted.' Let's face it: we are small even at 8,500!!! Let's at least be as strong as we can be. Make a commitment to the community, because the community is looking out for all of us.

A minimum donation of $18 per adult (donations from couples should be made separately) affirms our commitment to Calgary's Jewish community.

Donations can be made online at www.jewishcalgary.org, by phone to Diana Kalef at 403-444-3154 or Irena Karshenbaum at 403-537-8594, or at the Federation office at the JCC (Jewish Community Centre).
